WE'VE BEEN ANTICIPATING THE OPENING of the long-awaited brand-new Pagenkopf Funeral Home, and I was lucky enough to get a private tour of this lovely home that immediately makes you feel welcome and at peace.

Still in Oconomowoc, on Upper Genesee Lake

What first began in 1913 with the Pagenkopf family, has now grown into an expansive new full-service funeral home that's located near the Aurora Summit Hospital. With more than six acres of beautiful land, its creation was a labor of love for owners Cindy and Kevin Pagenkopf who are over-the-moon happy to offer their new home to the Lake Country community.

"We were so happy to find this land in 2017 to build our dream, and to realize its potential for the expanded services we wanted to offer the community," explains Cindy. "It also features plenty of parking space – and we're happy to be just down the road from our previous location in Oconomowoc. Plus, we're introducing pet cremation services for the first time."

All the essential features you desire

Let's take a peek at what's available:

Welcoming Lobby – offers all the space you need so your guests may gather inside prior to services surrounded by its serene environment. Once inside, you can listen to music, view the calming fireplace wall and simply catch your breath before the service begins – with restrooms just a step away.

Large Chapel – features stunning, contemporary light fixtures, stone accent wall, natural light, a grand piano and plenty of comfortable guest seating. The space also offers families a private adjacent room to gather their thoughts on cozy sofas, mirrors for a final check, water and tissues – and a place to leave your belongings. The chapel also offers the latest technology for personalized presentations.

Small Chapel – features an intimate setting for viewing your loved one privately, maybe for the first time away from a care setting with all that entails. The room offers an option for small services for both humans and pets.

Banquet Room – just steps away from both chapels, you'll find a space for families to continue to gather in an area that can accommodate a casual social gathering or sit-down meal from its preferred caterers and outside patio with tables that overlook a lovely peaceful setting with an expansive outdoor space for military honors and other activities.

Family Arrangement Rooms – three, private arrangement rooms available to discuss all the funeral details with families at-need or pre-need.

Display Room – select keepsakes, jewelry and urns in many styles and materials and view casket corner cuts to meet your needs.

Cremation Services & Viewing Room – onsite cremation available, with viewing options available for those who wish to witness that final step for both humans and pets.

Pet Cremation Services – our pets are family – so treat them that way – with a private space to say goodbye. Offering pick-up services from your home or veterinary office. Featuring a peaceful viewing room away from clinical settings to say your goodbyes. Pet cremation services are provided on premise so you know everything will be handled with the dignity they deserve.

Flower Room – so florists can deliver and have floral arrangements arrive prior to the service in a climate-controlled room.

Two Grand Pianos – one that's Bluetooth accessible in the lobby so you may feature your favorites and one grand piano in the Large Chapel for accompanying services.

Everything they envisioned

The goal of the new space was to offer a comfortable and calm setting – and make it easy for families as they navigate challenging and emotional times. "We wanted our new funeral home to offer maximum comfort and convenience for our families and guests," says Cindy.

You also have the opportunity to attend Lunch & Learns that are offered several times a year to hear about funeral pre-planning that assists families with having their wishes in place so that the family doesn't need to worry when that time comes. "It's also a chance to tour the new facility, visit with our staff, and see how we can best serve you and your family when the time comes," concludes Cindy.
